The Troubles of A. H. Lee.

[From the St. Louis Democrat, January 20.]

The public will be surprised to learn that Mr. A. H. Lee, of Prairie du Rocher, Ill., has sold the grand Chicago Opera House, recently drawn by him in a lottery, for the comparatively insignificant sum of $200,000. They will be more surprised to hear of the manner in which he was treated and the influences brought to bear upon him to obtain the house at less than half its value. Everybody knows that the Opera House was "put up" at $800,000, and it was generally believed that that sum was something like its real value.

Mr. Lee is a quiet middle-aged gentleman, living in a dull little village, and seldom mixing in the excitements of city life.

The published letter of Mr. Lee gave the Chicago sharpers an insight into his character, and pointed him out as an easy subject to victimize. While he was at home attending to his sick wife, one of the "cute" ones of Chicago—Crosby himself, we are informed—astonished Prairie du Rocher by driving into it with a carriage. Mr. Lee now saw the original owner of the Opera House face to face—shook hands with him, invited him into his house, and treated him with that free and open hospitality for which he has always been noted. What could have induced the great Chicago lottery man to brave the tempests of January in a fine carriage?

We do not know what passed between Mr. Lee and Crosby, but it appears that the oily tongue and winning persuasions of the latter induced the lucky miller to get into the carriage and go to Belleville. Mr. Lee wanted to come to St. Louis to see Mr. Daniel G. Taylor, his brother-in-law, but was persuaded not to do so—what was the use of going out of the way to St. Louis, when Mr. Taylor could be telegraphed to come on and join him in Chicago. He telegraphed to Mr. Taylor from Belleville, but the message was not received. On arriving at Chicago, he telegraphed again to Mr. Taylor to join him, but this dispatch also was not delivered.

Mr. Lee found himself alone in a strange city, filled with people for whom he had no affinity, and to his great annoyance was the observed of all observers. Wherever he went it was pointed at by the curious as the "great Mr. Lee—the man what drawed the Opera House." When he arose in the morning he found cards of invitation to dine, and on his pillow were damp newspapers filled with accounts of the drawing, envious biographical sketches of himself, and conjectures as to "what he would do with it." On going to breakfast he was faced and flanked by gaping snobs talking about the Opera House, and wondering how many marriageable daughters he had, and what sort of a father-in-law he would make. If he walked into the street a multitude of ragged boys and sharp-nosed men followed at his heels, shouting "This is Mr. Lee—this is the Opera House man!" Men of all sorts pressed up to get a look at him, and not a few introduced themselves to him, and proposed going into business with him. Many were the offers he received to "trade" the Opera House for Chicago corner lots, petroleum lands, Montana mining shares, railroad stock, etc. Some desired him to put the house up at raffle, and generously offered to act as his business agents for a "trifling compensation." Wherever he went, some unwashed specimen would come up and ask him to drink, and claim his acquaintance. One Barnumized individual, with a keen eye to business, offered him $500 for "that long-tailed shirt" spoken of in his letter! Women sent to him for locks of his hair—daguerrean artists bored him to sit for his picture—newspaper reporters, with blood-red pencils in hand, begged the privilege of "taking" his life—self-constituted agents of bogus charitable societies solicited alms—tailors called to take his measure—shoemakers came to learn the size of his foot—hatters wanted to sell him their new style of "Lee hats"—and worst than all, real estate dealers asked him to invest in Chicago lots!

Finding that Mr. Taylor did not come, and wearied and worn out, vexed and chafed, Mr. Lee retired to his hotel to escape the endless solicitations and importunities of the Chicago mob. In this condition he was found by the shrewd Mr. Crosby. An offer of $200,000, cash down, for the Opera House, was accepted by Mr. Lee, who by this time was completely disgusted with Chicago, and longed to be at home with nothing around him but that elongated nether garment for which the Barnum of Chicago had offered him $500. He signed the papers presented to him, took his greenbacks, and started on the first train for St. Louis. He arrived here yesterday morning at 3 o'clock, and went to Mr. Taylor's. The $200,000 were deposited at the Boatmen's, and Mr. Lee feels a great relief in having got the big Opera House off his hands, even at a sacrifice of $400,000.

DISORDERLY SOLDIERS.—On Saturday evening last a company of infantry from Fort Churchill, en route for Paradise Valley, while camped for the night at a point on the road known as Log Cabin, some twenty miles from Fort Churchill, got into a general fight among themselves, resulting in several of them getting pretty badly used, one having his nose bitten off, another lost an ear, and an Orderly Sergeant received a most brutal beating, his head being cut and mutilated considerably. The reason given by the soldiers for thus beating him was that this was in retaliation of his ill treatment of them while at Fort Churchill. One or two of the soldiers deserted and came back to the Fort, declaring that they would stay with their company no longer, as it was totally demoralized and the officers had no longer any control over the men. Our informant says he did not learn the origin of the fight, but bad whisky probably had something to do with it. Officers went from the Fort to attend to the matter.—Virginia Enterprise, 13th inst.

HEAVY FINE.—The following dispatch was received by the Virginia Enterprise:

Carson, February 12—7:40 P. M.

In the case of W. B. Thornburg against the Savage Company, Judge Baldwin has just granted an injunction against the Savage Company. The Judge also stated that in case, upon examination, the law conferred sufficient authority, he should fine the company twenty thousand dollars for contempt in disobeying former orders.

HIGHBINDER BULLION.—The Austin and Belmont Company's stage brought into town five bars of bullion, valued at $4,500, from the Buel mill at Belmont. It is the product of the Highbridge mine.—Reese River Reveille.

Salt Lake City, November 6, 1866.

Rather Severe on its Friends.

The question of the annexation of Utah to Nevada is just now exciting a good deal of interest and comment on the part of those who claim and exercise the right to do the thing for "this people." They affect to believe that Utah can outvote Nevada any day, and thus be able to control the future State Government.

At the election for Delegate to Congress, held the other day, upwards of 15,000 votes were polled and returned. Adopting the rule generally applied that each vote represents five inhabitants, old and young, male and female, this would give Utah a population of 75,000. But the rule applicable to other communities can have little application here. It is believed that not less than one-third of the adult male populations are practical exemplars of the doctrine of Polygamy, and claim from two to two dozen wives each. Then again, Utah, although to some extent is, agriculturally speaking, an arid waste, yet, humanly considered, it is the most prolific land on top of the earth. The number of children in the Territory is little short of wonderful, and if somebody would only take the census of the little ones, under the age of, say, sixteen, it would present an array of figures absolutely startling. Again, we are certainly within bounds, when we say that of the adult population not less than four-sixths are of foreign birth, and comparatively few have perfected their naturalization papers. So that 15,000 legal votes in Utah would represent about two hundred thousand inhabitants. But we leave it to others to judge how many of the 15,000 votes returned were cast by qualified voters.

It will be sometime, we suspect, before Nevada will poll 15,000 votes. For that matter we do not see why Utah could not return 30,000, if necessary, just as well as 15,000. In the event of annexation, Nevada would probably pass stringent laws on the subject of elections, and the qualifications of electors. But how are they to be enforced? There's the rub in very deed. Congress has enacted some very wholesome and stringent statutes on the subject of Polygamy; yet to-day Polygamy thrives as it never throve before. Laws are of not much account unless and until they can be enforced. In spite of the laws which Nevada might adopt, we suspect those 15,000 or 20,000 votes of Utah would still turn up.

The Telegraph of this city, in noticing the annexation question, grows quite jubilant at the prospect, but is terribly sarcastic on the people of Utah. We were not aware before that the satirical was its peculiar forte, but from the specimen in Sunday's issue, we are now entirely satisfied on that point. We have from time to time been accused of saying some severe things against Mormondom, but we search our columns in vain to find anything half so scorching, keen and cutting, as the satire of the Telegraph man. Enumerating the things which "we will require" of Nevada, that paper says:

"In the first place, we shall expect our neighbours to honor the first great commandment—to be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth."

It then proceeds to explain most graphically what that means, but we must refer our Nevada friends to the article itself for the particulars, contenting ourself with the closing sentence of the paragraph:

"The people hereabout lift their heads far above all low, (!) grovelling, (!!) social customs (!!!) and endeavor to live as becomes reasonable and responsible beings, observing the natural use of and Divine intention in regard to the senses, not burning in their lust one towards another, as is so common throughout Christendom!"

Not to "put too fine a point on it," we may say that is pretty good. But the sarcasm of the Telegraph man approaches the sublime in the next paragraph.

"If there is to be an alliance between this Territory and that State, our people will be greatly desirous of improving the Nevadans as much as can be, and, if possible, raising them up to the high moral (!) standard of Utah, a standard so exalted (!!) that most of the rest of mankind dare not dream of reaching it, but finding it as they suppose beyond their reach, like the fox with the grapes, spend considerable time and wind and ink in depreciating it (!) and all the really praiseworthy attempts of our people to reach it."

We extract the foregoing as worthy of the pungent pen of Petroleum V. Nasby and infinitely superior to anything in the sarcastic line that ever emanated from Artemus Ward. But not content with such digs at the Saints, the article pitches in again after this fashion:

"But when the people of that State (Nevada) emerge from their obscurity and form an alliance with so great and noble and renowned a people as those of this Territory, a corresponding greatness and nobleness of character may justly be expected."

And finally we are told that the Nevadans will be "put on their best behavior, as will become them on allying themselves with such a sober, industrious, moral, and every way excellent people as ours."

That will do for one attempt. Unless our Nevada friends are prepared, at least to try to "reach" the perfection and moral tone of the Utah leaders, they had better stay out in the cold and content themselves with the blessing of geographical contiguity, and not strive after political or social amalgamation with the Saints.

How to get rid of the National Debt.—There are twenty millions of people in the North. If each one of these would destroy a fifty cent currency note daily, it would amount to a million of dollars in a day toward the removal of the national debt. If this were done every day for a year, it would reduce the debt by three hundred and sixty-five millions yearly, which is more than the whole internal revenue produces. We know a man who thinks it his duty to burn a five cent bill every day on this account. It is less than the tax on a glass of whisky.—New York Post.

The River and Harbor bill contains an appropriation for the Pacific Coast of $25[illegible]

[illegible] Frankfort, Ky., February 17.

The Kentucky House, by a vote of 50 to 15, passed a concurrent resolution declaring that the people of the State are [illegible] opposed to [illegible] in Congress, to place the people of the Southern States under military rule, the tendency whereof is to military despotism, contrary to the spirit of Union, and subversive of the principles on which the Government is founded; and they therefore enter a solemn protest against all such Congressional action.

New Orleans, February 16.

Advices from Vera Cruz to the 12th inst. are received.

The report of the capture of Juarez was not credited.

A French transport which arrived at Vera Cruz on the 12th will take home a large detachment of troops.

The Imperial Government had received a dispatch from Querito which stated that Miramon, on the 27th of January, gained a great victory over the Liberals at Zacatecas, and caused the hasty flight of Juarez and his ministers.

The Sociedad newspaper states positively that the French Expeditionary corps would leave Mexico on February 15th. The City of Mexico would soon be evacuated. Orders for the movement of the troops had been received, and great caution would be used in transporting them.

An account from the City of Mexico, January 28th, says that Diaz, with 15,000 men, was near the city and an attack was momentarily expected. The Imperialists, however, feel certain they can hold the city three months against 50,000 men.

Washington, February 17.

The Committee of Ways and Means will report the Tariff bill to-morrow. They have reduced the tax on coal to 50 cents; on salt from 30 to 22 cents, and from 24 to 16 cents.

Washington, February 17.

In the Senate, yesterday, Cowan opposed the Military Government bill, as well as Sherman's amendment.

Saulsbury, at 2 o'clock A. M., moved to adjourn; negatived.

A number of amendments to the 3d and 4th sections of the bill were offered, and disagreed to.

After further debate, the question was taken on the substitution of Sherman's proposition for the original bill, and it was carried—yeas, 32; nays, 3. Buckalew, Davis and Saulsbury voted "No."

Doolittle proposed an additional section, providing that sentence of death under the Act shall be carried into execution without the President's approval. It was adopted—21 to 16.

At 5:45 McDougall took the floor and spoke against the bill.

At 6:15 the bill, as amended, passed by the following vote:

Yeas—Anthony, Brown, Cattell, Chandler, Conness, Cragin, Creswell, Fogg, Frelinghuysen, Grimes, Howard, Howe, Kirkwood, Lane, Morgan, Morrill, Poland, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Ross, Sherman, Stewart, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Willey, Williams, Wilson, Yates—28.

Nays—Buckalew, Cowan, Davis, Doolittle, Hendricks, McDougall, Nesmith, Norton, Patterson, Saulsbury—10.

On motion of Sherman, the title of the bill was amended to read, "An Act for the more efficient government of the Rebel States."

At 6:30 Sunday morning the Senate adjourned.

The following is Sherman's substitute for Stevens' bill, as it passed the Senate:

The preamble declares that no legal State governments, or adequate protection for life and property exist in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida, Texas and Arkansas, and that it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced until loyal and republican State governments can be legally established.

Section 1 divides the States named into five Military Districts, as in the original bill.

Section 2 makes it the duty of the President to assign to the command of each District an officer of the U. S. Army, not below the rank of Brigadier General, and detail a sufficient military force to enforce his authority within the District.

Section 3 makes it the duty of such commanding officer to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals. He may allow the local civil tribunals to try and punish offenders, or may organize committees or other tribunals for that purpose. All interference under State authority is declared null and void.

Section 4 provides that all persons arrested shall be tried without unnecessary delay; no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; no sentence affecting life or liberty shall be executed until approved by the District Commander.

Section 5 provides that whenever the people of any of said States shall have formed a Constitution and Government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a Convention of Delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, 21 years old and upwards, of whatever race or color, or previous condition, who have been residents of said State for one year previous to the day of election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such Constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates, and such Constitution shall have been ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when said State, by the vote of its Legislature elected under said Constitution shall have adopted the Amendment to the Constitution of the United States proposed by the 39th Congress, and known as Article 14. And when said Article shall be declared part of the Constitution of the United States said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom on taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the provisions of this law shall be inoperative in said State.

London, February 16.

Ireland is entirely quiet; Chief Organizer Stephens is reported there, but the danger seems passed. Toomy's Wood, where the closely pursued Fenians took refuge, has been scoured by British troops and the insurrectionary bands dispersed. The Government will send more ships and troops to Ireland at once.

The French blue book shows that the great Powers did no more than tell the Porte to conciliate the Cretans. The House of Commons applaud this course.

Paris, February 16.

The French blue book says the Government of France sincerely applauds the action of the United States in repairing the evils of their late civil war. There is now no subject of discussion between the two countries, and everything tends to an assimilation of their policies.

More on Annexation.—That a free expression of public opinion may be had on this subject, we subjoin the following remarks from the Sacramento Bee:

The Saints are active in their endeavors to prevail upon Congress to admit Utah as a State, while the Gentiles who dwell in that Territory are mainly in opposition to the measure. The latter consider the Saints in a majority there and consequently fear that the Mormons would have full possession of the State Government and use it to oppress all anti-polygamists; while the former know that they can control the State if the election were soon to be held, and give this as a reason for seeking admission now, for, say they, it is certain that the Gentiles would persecute us if they had control, while we who have power at present do not persecute them. Thus one party wants a State for self protection, and the other desires a Territory for self-protection. It is very certain, however, that Congress will not erect Utah into a State if the Mormons are to control, and particularly while the Gentiles there protest against it.

In this condition of things Nevada steps in and, by her Legislature, unanimously asks Congress to enlarge her boundaries on the east so as to absorb the entire Territory of Utah. She desires to enter it, and has petitioned the National Legislature for the enactment of a law authorizing her to do so. If the Mormons trouble them much Congress may comply and thus destroy the civil power which Brigham Young has so long wielded. Either this or Utah may continue to knock for admission until the anti-polygamists have become so numerous there as to be certain that they can secure in their own hands the government of the new State. It is not in reason to suppose that anything will be done in Washington to place power in the hands of the Mormons. They are antagonistic to our people and their institutions have been a trouble in the land since the days of Joe Smith, and the easiest and surest way to silence them, is to pour in upon them a tide of population which, if it do not absorb them, will put them so greatly in the minority that they can trouble us no longer. The Pacific Railroad with its innovations and the new life it will soon throw into that mediterranean land, will crush them out as quietly and as easily as a wagon wheel in passing over it would crush a mouse.

A California Patent.—A patent, numbered 61,067, and dated January 8th, 1867, has been issued to J. S. Hittell, of San Francisco, for a washing machine. Three or four hundreds patents have been granted heretofore for washing machines, and not one has come into common use. They are generally expensive, they take up too much room, they cannot be moved about conveniently, they are easily broken, or they tear the clothes; and for one or more of these objections they fail to find favor. The inventor of the washer last patented thinks his machine is the cheapest, smallest, lightest, simplest, most serviceable and best fitted for common family use of all the machines of its kind. Time will test the correctness of that opinion.—Alta California.

The Palestine Exploration.—Jerusalem is to be explored this year by the Committee of the Palestine Exploration Fund of England. They have [illegible] programme for 1867, and [illegible] that discoveries of importance will be made in connection with the [illegible] sacred spots of the city. Captain Wilson has set forth a memorandum, in which he says: "The chief interest centers in the site of the Temple and Holy Sepulchre: the [illegible] be ascertained if a firmer [illegible] foundations in the surface of the [illegible] could be obtained; but, failing this, excavations might be made to lay bare the western walls of the triple passage (supposed eastern face of the Temple) to its foundation, and make such other explorations in the vaults as might seem necessary, to make an opening so as to examine the character of the masonry of the western wall of the Haram Area north of the Bab-es-Silsileh, and another in the Via Dolorosa opposite the Turkish barracks to see if a ditch exists there. The authenticity of the site at present shown as that of the Holy Sepulchre depends in a great measure on the course of the second wall, and there would be no difficulty in obtaining permission to make excavations in search of this in the plot of ground called 'Muristan,' where the Hospital of the Knights of St. John stood. This excavation would have to be made on an extensive scale, and there would be some trouble in exploring the most important part near the Bazaars." No doubt much may be done if the society set vigorously to work, and to this end they have made a fresh appeal for funds.

Colonizing the Freedmen.—On the 5th of January, Brevet Brigadier General Ralph Ely, late Colonel of the Eighth Michigan Infantry, sailed from Charleston, South Carolina, for New Smyrna, Florida, with 600 freed people, the first installment of a colony of upward of 3,000 about to settle on Government lands located for them in that vicinity, under the homestead act of May 20, 1862. These people are well prepared for colonization; they are an orderly and industrious class, determined to show to the world that they are worthy the freedom bestowed upon them by their country. Among them every mechanical trade is represented, and the heads of families are possessed of the means necessary to the cultivation of a crop. They are quite sanguine that at no late day representation will be granted them; certainly they are as worthy of it as the "poor whites" and rebellious "upper classes" whose bitter persecution and determined opposition to the education of freed people has driven them from the State. The freed people are fast becoming educated in their rights and privileges as free laborers and citizens, and manifest an appreciation of the obligations of citizenship. They are, without exception, exceedingly interested in the education of themselves and their children. To the Northern people they look for help and guidance. Let them not look in vain.

RECANTATION.—The following recantation, by Elder Leland, we clip from the Deseret News of January 23d. It is addressed to all the Latter Day Saints throughout the world:

I have sinned a grievous sin in teaching a doctrine which makes the death and the atonement of Jesus Christ of no force, thus sapping the foundation of the Christian religion. The above mentioned doctrine is found in a discourse which I preached on the "Nature of the Mission of Jesus," on the 16th of March, 1862, in Dundee, Scotland, and which was published in the Millennial Star, No. 13, Volume 24. The above preaching was done without submitting it to or seeking the counsel of, those who bear the priesthood with whom I am associated. In this I committed a great wrong, for which I most humbly crave and ask their forgiveness, as I do also of all the Saints who have heard my teaching on this subject. I will further say that it is my wish and desire that this confession of my errors shall also apply to all of my teachings of a similar kind among the people, and that the confession should be as widely circulated as my teachings have been. I do most honestly believe in the Sacrifice and Atonement made by Jesus Christ in opening up the way of salvation to mankind, and that without his death we would all have been lost. Everything that I have said that would deny this great truth is false, and has a tendency to destroy, in the minds of the people, the value of the plan of redemption.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING IN CARSON.—Yesterday morning about half-past 3 o'clock a man named Johnny Sherwood was accidentally shot at the Sazerac saloon in Carson by Wm. H. Blethers, Deputy Sheriff, and he lingered in life until half-past 11 o'clock yesterday morning. A brief history of the affair is as follows: Blethers is a brother-in-law of Sheriff Smith and acts as night watchman. During the preceding night he was called upon to arrest a Spanish woman for disturbing the peace or some offense of that kind, on complaint of a citizen, and he locked her up. A brother of deceased it seems was a friend of the woman, and became greatly enraged. He retaliated on Blethers by the use of harsh language, reflecting on him and his family, and became fiercely demonstrative. When Blethers drew his pistol with the intention of giving him a baste over the head with it, Hank Sherwood's brother Johnny, the deceased, who was standing just behind Blethers, caught the pistol as it was raised and pulled it down towards himself, when it discharged, the ball striking him (Johnny) just above the right groin and settling in the right thigh. It probably cut an artery, for the deceased lost at least five pounds of blood—so the physicians say. The deceased kept a livery stable in Carson, and was a bosom friend of Blethers, who exhibits the most poignant grief on account of the accident.—Virginia Enterprise, Feb. 12.

HAPPY FELLOW.—The local editor of the Danville (Va.) Times is the most contented man we know of. Hear him:

We are happy at being no more miserable —no wood—no money—snow three inches deep, and more, we fear, coming—ink frozen —roller ditto—the devil with a bad cold and our heels frost-bitten. We don't care a constitutional for the country; it may sink or swim; the probability now is it will freeze. Fact is, we've been out long in the cold, and don't know what we'd "stand treat" if Uncle Sam would offer to take us in. We are pretty much in the temper of the obstinate urchin who had kicked the cover off and woke his "mammy" in the night, crying out "he was cold." "Well, pull the cover on you Johnny," said she. "Than't do it," replied the youth; "durned if I don't freethe furthst!"

Waiting in our criminal courts of assigning counsel to such prisoners as have no one to defend them. In New York, the Court finding a man who was accused of theft, and without counsel, asked a wag of a lawyer present to withdraw the prisoner, confer with him, and give him such counsel as was best for his interest. The lawyer and his client withdrew, and in fifteen or twenty minutes the lawyer returned into the court alone. "Where is the prisoner?" asked the Court. "He has gone," said the hopeful limb. "You told me to give him the best advice I could for his interest. As he said he was guilty, I thought the best counsel I could offer him was to cut and run like h—ll, which he took at once. He is in Jersey, your honor, by this time."

PRINTER'S ERROR.—A rather green village editor was very desirous of gaining the good graces of the new minister; and in describing his first entrance in to the church wrote thus: "He is a most venerable sample of antiquity." But to his astonishment and amazement of all the inhabitants, it came out in types, "He is a most venerable sample of iniquity."

TIT FOR TAT.—A young lady lately asked a gentleman the meaning of the word surrogate, and the gentleman explained it to her as "a gate through which parties have to get married."

"Then I imagine," said the lady, "that is a corruption of sorrow-gate."

"You're right, miss," replied her informant, "as woman is an abbreviation of woe to man."

AN UNCOMMONLY SMART BOY.—A little six year old urchin, away up in Maine, being unable to drive an obstinate cow out of the barn, set it on fire. "She run then," so the boy told his mother.

A BILL posted on the walls in a country village announced that a "lecture would be delivered in the open air, and a collection made at the door to defray expenses."

THE Indiana Legislature are considering a bill making "bolting" by members a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $1,000.

WHY was Pharaoh's daughter like a broker? Because she got a little prophet from the rushes on the bank.

WHY are barbers so intellectual? Because they have so much head work.
